

July 30, 2009

Dear ADMA Scholarship Committee:

I just wanted to write and communicate my extreme appreciation of being chosen as a scholarship recipient. This scholarship was the single defining factor of me continuing my education at Arizona State University, if I would not have received it there is a good chance that I would have not been able to attend my dream school and most likely would have returned home to get a job. I really cannot thank the ADMA enough for their efforts.

Here at Arizona State I have begun to prosper, the aviation program has taken me from little if any aviation experience and brought me to a private pilots license level. Being immersed in the aviation community I have decided to also engage the entrepreneurial side of my personality into a commercial aircraft wash and detail business. With help from ASU's Entrepreneur advantage project and the Edson student entrepreneur initiative I am in the process of launching a world class company that will service aircraft and aviation companies alike in the valley of the sun. While still flight training and being in college starting a business may sound like too much work for one person. However when I am busy, I am happy and I will continue to challenge myself in education, aviation and business.

Thank you very much,

Zach Hamilton
Owner, DevilWash
Tempe, AZ
(480) 329-3428
zach.hamilton@devilwash.com
www.DevilWash.com